FATAL SUMMONS

To J. Louis Prichard.

Stricken With Apoplexy at His Home in Huntington.

J. Louis Prichard, whose boyhood days were spent in Louisa and Catlettsburg, and who was favorably known throughout the Big Sandy valley, died very unexpectedly at his home in Huntington, W. Va., Monday night. On last Saturday morning he sustained a stroke of apoplexy from which he never rallied. Medical aid was summoned from Cincinnati, but the case was hopeless. The attack was too severe to leave room for any encouragement, and this stalwart man was forced to give up the struggle about the close of the third day.

The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon from the residence. The body was then placed aboard a special car on the Camden Electric railway and conveyed to Catlettsburg, where the interment took place immediately after arrival.

Deceased was in his 44th year, a fine specimen of manhood, apparently in the best of health, and in the prime of his life. With promise of a score or more of happy successful years ahead of him he was swept from his feet in an instant, and his earthly career was closed forever with scarcely a warning that the end was near.

The wife and four little children (the oldest eleven years of age) were wholly unprepared for the great shock that was in store for them.

Mr. Prichard was a successful business man. His time for about two years had been given to the cold storage business. He was one of the largest stockholders in the J. M. McCoach Co., of Huntington, and was active in the management. Previous to that he was cashier of the First National Bank of Ceredo. A number of years ago he was a traveling salesman.

His father was Jack Prichard, of Kavanaugh, Boyd county, who died when Louis was a child. His mother was a daughter of George R. Burgess, of this county, and a sister of Mrs. Wm. Carey and Mrs. Ellen Waldeck, of Louisa. Two sisters of the deceased survive him—Mrs. W. L. Andrews, of Ashland, and Mrs. George Calvin, of Cannonsburg. His only brother, Dr. T. J. Prichard, died in Huntington about three years ago. The widow was Miss Fannie Marr, of Catlettsburg.

Mr. Prichard had accumulated a considerable amount of property and life insurance to the amount of $25,000.

Mrs. Augustus Snyder and G. Burgess, of this place, attended the funeral.

Died in Illinois.

Word was received here last week that General James Martin died at his home in Salem, Ill. General Martin was a veteran of the Mexican and Civil Wars, and was a man of much prominence. His wife was Miss Margaret Savage, formerly of this city.

Real Quiet.

You have heard and read much of being quietly married, haven't you? Doesn't this strike you as being the real thing?

"Mr. John Werner, a deaf mute, of Louisville, and Miss Carrie A. Naris, also a deaf mute, of Marrowbone, Cumberland county, were married at the home of a friend, Mr. Terry Page. The ceremony was performed in writing by the Rev. J. W. Loving, and was both beautiful and impressive."

A Home Wedding.

Married at the residence of the bride's father on Saturday, Nov. 23, by the Rev. G. M. Copley, John H. Huff, of Nevada, to Olive Texas, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Abram Vaughan.

Some years ago Mr. Huff, then a mere boy, entered the employ of Mr. Vaughan and lived with him several years. When he reached man's estate he went west and found employment with the Southern Pacific railroad. He had not forgotten the family in old Kentucky with whom he had lived so long. The young daughter of the house was particularly enshrined in his memory. The other day he came back to Lawrence county, went to Mr. Vaughan's and said he had come to carry Miss Olive to the Silver State. He had a pass over the Southern Pacific issued to "John H. Huff and wife," and there not being any good reason to the contrary the wedding took place, and last Monday the happy couple left for Argenta, Nevada, which will be their home.

Fined $15,000.

Federal Judge Keller last Saturday fined David Howell, police officer for the Thacker Coal and Coke Company $11,000 and costs, on the charge of conspiring to hold persons in peonage. The case against James Collins, superintendent, and J. E. Houston, general manager of the same company, were dismissed. Howell confessed to the charge on a stipulation that the proceedings against Collins and Houston should be nolled.

Teachers' Money Here.

The money due the teachers for the November payday is now in the hands of the County Superintendent, having arrived last week.

SHORTHAND

And Typewriting Are Taught in Kentucky Normal College.

How would you like to be an expert stenographer? How much would you give to be a first-class typewriter? You have doubtless watched the fingers of a good writer as he or she wrote with enviable dexterity and swiftness some message or some dictation. And you have possibly gazed at some experienced short-hand writer as he took correctly and rapidly the speech or dictation of an orator or a business man too hurried to wait for the slow work of the long-hand writer. Well, to do these things, to do rapid and correct stenography and to put into clean, correct typewriting a letter otherwise ugly and all but illegible are valuable, respectable and desirable accomplishments. Also, you do not have to go to some far away so-called "Commercial College" to become master of either or both of them. The Kentucky Normal College, right here at Louisa, offers you instruction in these most useful branches of a modern education at very moderate rates and the instruction of a competent and experienced teacher. Miss Daisy Marr is the teacher—the New Normal College is the name of the school.

Typewriting, commercial correspondence and stenography, and she is good one. Do you know that you can tell in a short time by watching and studying a workman while at work whether his work is good or bad? So also can you by watching and studying a teacher tell whether or not that teacher knows herself what she is trying to impart to others. A half hour's stay with Miss Marr and some of her pupils demonstrated very fully to the visitor that she is entirely at home in the useful arts that she is teaching. There was an alertness, a promptness and decision about her which no mere tyro could have shown. In short, she showed that she knew her business. She not only knows her art but she can teach it.

No good stenographer and typewriter need ever be long out of a job. The demand is ever increasing and the supply does not meet the demand. The wage paid is good, the employment is honorable and the work not exacting. And as we walked away from the room where these useful accomplishments are so well taught we could not help thinking of girls who deem their education complete; of boys whose highest ambition is to smoke a vile cigarette; girls and boys who are not compelled to go to school and learn something which would be useful through life, and we felt sorry for their wasted, useless lives and those neglected opportunities.

Is Wilson's Majority.

Other Candidates Fell 5,000 Short of These Figures.

The total vote in the Governor's race is as follows: Willson 214,481, Hager 196,428. Willson's majority 18,053. The total vote for all candidates for Governor this year was 419,141, a falling off of 19,526 in the total vote, compared with that of four years ago. The majorities shown by the tabulation of the State Board of Election Commissioners are as follows:

Cox, Lieutenant Governor, 15,021. Breathitt, Attorney General, 12,209.

James, Auditor, 13,081. Farley, Treasurer, 12,271. Bruner, Secretary of State, 13,432.

Four years ago Beckham received 229,000, as against 202,000 for Belknap, showing that the Democratic vote fell off 37,000 this year, while the total Republican vote increased only 8,000. Four years ago Louisville gave Beckham 24,000 votes and Belknap 13,000. This year Willson received 28,000 votes in Louisville to 19,600 for Hager, showing that outside of Louisville the vote for Willson was no larger than that given for Belknap four years ago. This would seem to leave no room to doubt that the stay-at-home Democrats elected the Republican ticket this year, and they evidently stayed at home for that purpose.

The Governor and Lieutenant Governor will go into office on December 10, but the other state officers will not be sworn in until the first Monday in January.

To Develop Kentucky Lands.

The Louisa Coal Co., whose main offices are at 1-3 Woodward Building, Mt. Vernon, Ohio, writes the Manufacturer's Record that it will develop about 5,300 acres of coal land near Louisa, Ky., on the Big Sandy river, bringing the production of its mines to a daily capacity of 1,000 tons. Officers of the company are Messrs. F. S. McConnell, president; M. G. Watson, vice-president; D. E. Sapp, secretary, and J. S. McConnell, treasurer. The constructing engineer in charge is John M. Rayburn, House Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

Financial Troubles in the Cities Disappearing. Big Sandy in Fine Condition.

We are glad to be able to say that the recent financial flurry or scare in the cities is over. There will be some echoes for a time, but the trouble has passed away and business is getting back into normal condition as rapidly as could be expected. Prices of commodities may not soon reach the abnormal figures they commanded for awhile, but this will be all the better for the country in general. The volume of currency was not sufficient for the transaction of the business upon the former high standard of values at crop-moving time.

The people of this region are to be congratulated upon the fact that none of the banks of the Big Sandy Valley were in the slightest degree affected by the stringency that existed in the cities and some large towns. Not one of them ever refused full payment on any check properly drawn upon them. All have strong reserves, amounting to two and three times as much as the law requires. They are not inviting new loans, but this only a matter of precaution and not because of any lack of surplus. It is not unusual for conservative banks to refuse to discount notes; in fact, all safely conducted banks hold their loans down to a figure that leaves them an ample surplus, and it often becomes necessary for them to refuse good new loans. It seems that the supply of money for loaning purposes is hardly equal to the demand.

Big Sandy banks have more cash than they need. Yesterday there was communication by long distance telephone between banks in two Big Sandy towns (one of which was Louisa) each bank wanting to unload upon the other some of its burden of cash.

Ask Pardon for Moonshiners.

The Attorney General of the U. S. has been requested by Representative Langley, of the Tenth district, to recommend to the President the pardon of the four Little brothers, who are now serving terms in the Catlettsburg jail for moonshining in Floyd county. The four brothers, all of whom are between the ages of twenty-two and thirty-two, have among them twenty-five children, who are without means of support, and will practically become public charges unless the four fathers are released. The moonshining operations of the brothers were on a small scale and Mr. Langley believes that as they have already been in prison for several months the punishment is sufficient. The Attorney General will look into the case and make a recommendation to the President the latter part of the week.

WASHED OUT.

Prestonsburg Bridge Swept Away by High Water.

The new bridge being constructed across Big Sandy river at Prestonsburg was seriously damaged Monday by the high water. The false work supporting the large center span was washed out by the heavy current and the iron went down into the river, twisted and broken. The iron work is in place from the west shore to one of the large piers. A few more days would have put the main span out of danger, and the hope of the early completion of the bridge would have been realized.

The contract for building this bridge was let to the Penn Bridge Company for about $23,000, and it is upon this corporation that the loss falls.

Wants $2,500 Damages.

A. J. Webb, of Webbville, has filed suit in the United States Court vs. the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co. for $2,500 damages in consideration of the death of his son, Grover C. Webb.

It will be remembered that last summer Grover Webb was working on the C. & O. bridge, while an amanuensis on the opposite bank. He was caught between the locomotive of his train and so badly crushed that he died the same day. He was brought to Riverview hospital, where death ensued a few hours later.

A Death and a Fire.

Our Busseyville correspondent reports the death of an old and well known citizen.

R. H. Meek died at his residence near Busseyville last Sunday and was buried the next day. He had been blind for a number of years and leaves several children, all grown.

On Tuesday morning the Busseyville schoolhouse caught fire from sparks from the chimney, and there being no way to extinguish the flames it soon burned to ashes. School was in session when the fire was discovered and a small panic ensued, but there was no accident. School would have closed by expiration of the term in about five weeks.

Want A. H. Stephens' Place.

There are three applications on file with Gov. Beckham for the appointment of Commonwealth's Attorney in the district composed of Floyd Knott and Magoffin counties. They are W. H. May and Lee Roberts of Floyd and J. L. Perkins of Knott. The vacancy was caused by the death of Hon. A. H. Stephens. There are yet two years of the term.

DEATH

Calls Millard F. Carter.

The Passing of a Prominent Citizen of Lawrence County.

After a long and painful illness M. F. Carter, a prominent and highly respected citizen of this county, died at Riverview hospital at an early hour Wednesday morning. More than a month ago it was reported in Louisa that Mr. Carter was dying at his home at Blaine, but he became somewhat better and was brought to Riverview hospital for treatment.

His trouble was Bright's disease and while he seemed for a time to grow better, his medical advisors held out to him very little hope of ultimate recovery. At the time of his death his wife and his son George were with him. The body was taken to the residence of his nephew, A. O. Carter, and from there it was conveyed to his old home at Madge, on Big Blaine. Interment was made yesterday afternoon under the direction of the Masonic fraternity. Mr. Carter having been a member of Apperson Lodge and Louis Chapter. Mr. Carter leaves a widow and four children, two girls and two boys. The children are the fruits of a former marriage with Miss Jennie Clayton, who was a sister of Sheriff James Clayton. The present Mrs. Carter is a daughter of the late Claiborne Swetnam, of Blaine. Mr. Carter was 56 years of age.

He was a high type of Christian manhood, known by nearly everybody in Lawrence county and held in high regard by all. He was a man of warm genial nature, a clever man in our kindly meaning of the word, unassuming and modest. For a long time after his marriage with Miss Clayton they lived in the locality now known as Madge, so called for his daughter. And here the great sorrow of his life cast its dark shadow upon him. His comfortable residence was burned, and in its flames one of his children met a cruel death.

Millard Carter will live long in the memory of those who knew him best.

Wilhoit for Secretary.

Roy Wilhoit, of Ashland, is being mentioned for the position of Private Secretary to Gov. Willson. Mr. Wilhoit was one of the workers at Republican State headquarters during the campaign and is a son of Commonwealth's Attorney Wilhoit. His name has also been suggested for Rate Clerk of the Railroad Commission and his appointment is said to rest with Commissioner Siler. Mr. Wilhoit has been recommended to Mr. Siler, so it is understood, by Representative Bennett and Langley and G. R. Winn, member of the State Central Committee from the Fourth district. Mr. Wilhoit is a capable young man and is qualified and competent to fill either of the two places for which he is in competition.

Mr. Wilhoit married a Pineville girl.

JOE HARRIS

Appointed County Clerk of Floyd County.

The County Judge of Floyd county has appointed Joe Harris to fill the vacancy in the office of County Clerk, caused by the death of G. R. Davidson. There remain two years of the term and this appointment is said to be good for the entire time. The appointment was made last Saturday.

The dean of Mr. Davidson was mentioned in the News last week. Pneumonia was the cause of his death, after a brief illness. Mr. Davidson was Clerk of the Floyd County Court for more than thirty years. He was a liberal, genial man and a good citizen. His sudden death was a great shock to his many friends throughout the valley.

Sidewalks and Streets.

One thing to which the attention of the next Board of Councilman will be directed is the condition of the streets and sidewalks of the town. Nearly if not every brick sidewalk in Louisa is in need of repair. Holes abound and ridges caused by roots cause pedestrians to stumble and say ugly words. Some of the crossings are worse than none, and one of the most used streets, Lady Washington, has no crossing from Mrs. Martin McClure's to Henry Sullivan's. The street itself from Perry to Pike is, after a rain, a veritable Slough of Despond. Last summer, when the proper persons were vainly importuned to put it in order, the necessary work could have been done at a cost of fifty cents. By next spring it will require several days work to put it in good shape. We are in the dark as to why it has been so long neglected. And speaking of darkness, who knows and will tell why a street light is not maintained at the corner brick where O'Neal and Carter have their law office?

Peery McCoy Shot at Delorme.

Perry McCoy was shot and instantly killed by a man named Farrell at Delorme, near Thacker Tuesday night of last week after Farrell had been fired upon by McCoy several times and desperately wounded.

Farrell and brother of Pikeville, Ky., applied at the house of McCoy for lodging which was refused. The brothers then went to a boarding house to bed. McCoy proceeded to the boarding house and made the two men get up and leave. They started down the railroad, McCoy following. After a short distance McCoy began firing with two guns, shooting Farrell through the lungs. Farrell returned the fire striking McCoy in three places and killing him instantly.

DOUBLE COMEDY

Bill To Be Rendered at Masonic Opera House Dec. 6th.

The Dramatic Club of the K. N. C. will present a very pleasing bill at the Louisa Opera House on the evening of December 6. On this occasion the pupils of Miss Wheeler, instructor in elocution, will give their friends a taste of their quality as apt learners at the hands of a proficient teacher. The double bill selected for presentation consists of two amusing sketches—Mr. Bob, and His Last Legs. These will be properly costumed and staged, the costumes being hired for the occasion from a city costumer. No expense has been spared to make this offering of the club a decided success, and our people should show their appreciations of the efforts of the young ladies and gentlemen by giving them a full house on the advertised date.

Married in Ironton.

On Saturday last Miss Myrtle Newberry of Huntington, eloped to Ironton with Carl Hess, a Huntington traveling man, and was there married. Miss Newberry had been visiting friends in Prestonsburg and was on her way home when Mr. Hess, who had known her but a short time, met her on the street and proposed to her.

The bride was born in Ironton where the family resided previous to their removal to Huntington. Mr. Newberry is a prominent business man.

This was one of the most important cases argued in the Court of Appeals in several years, affecting as it does the title to thousands of acres of coal and timber lands in Knott, Pike, Floyd and Letcher counties, the richest mineral section of the state.

LEARN'S SECRET OF SUN SPOTS.

Observing Farmer Evolves an Astounding Theory.

Carlisle, Pa.—James Elliott, a farmer and grain dealer of Elliottson, Pa., has evolved a remarkable theory regarding the causes of sun spots and their effect upon earthly phenomena.

Elliott has outlined his theory to the bureau of plant industry, of the federal weather bureau, and has been complimented upon the way he sustains his contention.

From his studies of the fluctuation of grain markets and of plant growth, particularly wheat and corn, he was led to his remarkable conclusions.

The grain dealer physician assumes that electricity is a gas, either a compound as air or an element as hydrogen, and of equal density, uniform temperature and equal pressure throughout the universe. He believes that solar metallurgical activities require large masses of electrical gas frequently and absorb the same in enormous quantities from large areas in the sun's atmosphere.

Now, as Elliott admits the conductivity theory for short impulses of energy such as transmission of lights, and substitutes it for larger movements and substitutes the theory of a swift moving current along straight paths of least resistance, he thinks that the vacuum caused by the withdrawal into the sun of large bodies of electrical gas causes currents to flow in from earth and planets.

Elliott asserts that space, robbed of electrical gas, becomes opaque, therefore the seeming blackness of the sun spots. He thinks that the same phenomena occur in the case of the earth, when after vegetation has de-electrified the earth, thereby withdrawing electrical gas, dark days and darkness before thunderstorms, as well as lightning storms, are produced. He believes that ball lightning is solidified electrical gas.

HORSE FOUND FOR TAFT.

Missouri Produces Animal Strong Enough for Secretary.

Washington.—Secretary of War Taft, whose martial aspect has long been clouded for want of a horse strong enough to bear him, will no longer be classed among the swivel-chair warriors. A suitable steed has been found, and it comes from Missouri.

Reports of the discovery have just reached the war department from the two officers detailed upon this mission in connection with the purchase of animals for the mounting school at Fort Riley.

Kentucky, with its traditions of thoroughbreds; Virginia, the home of hurdlers and steeplechasers, and Ohio, with its rough-coated breed, were ransacked. Then the search was almost given up, when in a far-off corner of Missouri, the natural habitat of the army mule, the much-sought specimen was discovered. He is a big, rangy bay, with a white star on his forehead; he is unhooked and will remain so, and his mane is long and flowing.

An officer will be detailed at once to eradicate any ungenteel propensities which the steed may have absorbed from his youthful environment, so that he may be properly subdued when the secretary returns from the orient. He will be taken care of at the riding school at Fort Riley, and any trace of mulish instincts will promptly be obliterated. He will be shipped east before Christmas, and is especially warranted never to become sway-backed even under Mr. Taft's 250 pounds.

TORPEDO HITS A BIG FISH.

Experimental Test in Noyac Bay Gives Surprising Results.

Sag Harbor, L. I.—Just why an experimental torpedo, which had been donated to a scientific society, ran wild on the torpedo proving ground in Noyac bay, off this place, to the confusion of Sag Harbor, Levitt, Mamaroneck, and the surrounding country, was not clearly known when it was discovered that the torpedo had been driven into the body of a large shark.

While experiments were under way last summer a torpedo on which experts would have staked their reputations cut up capers when about 1,500 yards down the range, much to the mystification of everybody present. This was later explained when the mangy remains of a monster shark came to the surface. The shark had evidently sought to try conclusions with this new-fangled sea diver and came off worsted.

The other day when the big torpedo cut line for the 1,200 net bull's-eye it was suddenly seen to perform a series of evolutions not on the program. For a minute or so the torpedo ran out of its course, while a great commotion ensued around the target, showing that havoc of some sort had been wrought. As it is too cold for sharks to venture in those waters nowadays it is thought the torpedo ran into a school of big fish.

Old Customs House Abandoned.

New York.—After nearly a half-century of occupancy customs officials in the old custom house on Wall street have moved to the handsome new government structure at the foot of Broadway, and the old building will be formally turned over to the National City bank, which purchased it seven years ago. The old building was erected by the Merchants' Exchange in 1857 and was occupied by that organization until 1862, when the government purchased it for a custom house. Prior to that time the customs officials had been housed in the sub-treasury building.

A HARD DEBT TO PAY.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid off," writes G. S. Clark of Westfield, Iowa, "for my rescue from death, by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were so seriously affected that death seemed imminent when I commenced taking New Discovery. The ominous dry, hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used, and two more bottles made a complete cure." Nothing has ever equaled New Discovery for coughs, colds and all throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by A. M. Hughes druggist, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

FLAW HUNTERS.

There are people who have a perpetual faculty for detecting evil or the appearance of evil in every man's character. They have a fatal scent for carrow. They think they have a wonderful knowledge of human nature. A less offensive type of the same tendency leads some people to find apparent satisfaction in the discovery and proclamation of the slightest defects in the habits of good men, and the conduct of public institutions. They cannot talk about the benefits conferred by a great hospital without lamenting some insignificant blot in its laws, and some trifling want of prudence in its management. Speak to them about a man whose good work everybody is admiring, and they cool your ardor by regretting that he is so rough in his manner, that his temper is so hasty, or that he is so fond of applause. They seem to hold to a belief requiring them to prove the impossibility of human perfection. They detect the slightest alloy in the pure gold of human goodness. That there are spots on the sun is, with them, more than an observed fact. There are people who, if they hear an organ, find out at once which are the poorest stops. If they listen to a great speaker, they remember nothing but some slip in the construction of a sentence, the consistency of a metaphor, or the evolutions of an argument.

While their friends are admiring the wealth and beauty of a tree whose branches are weighed down with fruit, they have discovered a solitary bough, lost in the golden affluence, on which nothing is hanging. Fortunately, we have but a few of these flaw hunters in this community, but that is a few too many.

MAKE HOME HAPPY.

To make your home happy, see that you make your wife feel that your affection and tenderness for her are in no degree diminished from the day you first sought her. Do not let her, when you can avoid it, to sit alone and go out walking alone. You would not have done so "once upon a time." Do not reserve all your blandness and fragrance for strangers or casual acquaintances. There are some men, judging from whose outdoor manners, it would seem that nothing was left to be desired, who are, nevertheless, of the ursa-major tribe at home; men who keep their pleasant ways and genial smiles and cheerful words for company, and who can only be silent or peevish and exacting with their wives. Have such men any just reason to complain that their homes are not happy?

There is a good deal of undeserved censure passed on woman on account of their not making home more attractive. Most of this blame is fairly chargeable on men. With what heart can a woman strive to make the atmosphere cheerful when she knows, from bitter experience, that the companion of her life will come home to criticise her cooking, to disregard her personal appearance, and to let off upon her wounded but patient ear fretful language on account of every thing that has gone wrong out-of-doors? See to it that you do your part, Mr. Husband, to make home happy by cheerful encouragement to your fancied slight.

VACANCIES.

Vacancies have a mission. What has not? There is something in everything to be a chariot for thought. Even the absence in the home of a familiar object may set in motion the wheel on which thought swiftly rides. That vacant chair carries the mind back to your school days or the old homestead; to merry rambles over green meadows and tufted pastures, through shady groves; to your favorite seat on some mossy bank that was kept green by a little brook that bubbled by it; to the swing under the great maple that used to stand in the yard; and by-and-by you go quietly to the drawer and take out a little square case just large enough to hold a treasure, open it and gaze thoughtfully on a picture. Then you feel something rising from the heart, and a pearly tear steals slyly down your cheek. No one saw it; you saw no one; yet you felt that you had met a loved one; saw a smile upon the lip that had often returned your caresses. You put away the picture and go about your regular duties happier, better for having thus seen and felt some of the joys of the past.

Nothing annoys a man more than to be easily questioned when he comes home tired. Give him a neatly served dinner or a pair of easy slippers and a cup of tea and let him eat and drink in peace, and in time he will tell you of his own proper notion all you wish to know. But if you begin the attack too soon, the chances are that you will be rewarded by curtly spoken monosyllables. Put down this item in your note book, girls; and it will serve you well some day.

Stop grumbling. Get up two hours earlier in the morning and do something out of your regular profession. Mind your own business and with all your might let other people's alone. Live within your means. Give away or sell your dog. Go to bed early. Talk less of your own peculiar gifts and virtues and more of those of your friends and neighbors. Be cheerful. Fulfill your promises. Pay your debts. Be yourself all you would see in others. Be a good man and stop grumbling.

Some men stumble over straws in the road to heaven, but climb over hills on the road to destruction.

Now that the Prohibition movement is attracting the professional politicians the really sincere and honest workers in the cause will do well to consider the subject seriously.

Democrats of Montgomery county will prepare a petition to its two Representatives in the General Assembly asking them to vote against Gov. Beckham for United States Senator.

Thaw's second trial has been postponed until January.

A January thaw is usually nasty enough. The one set by the Court for that month will be horrible.

When trying to explain the defeat of his bulldog Pete, the President said, "He is a game fighter but a poor judge of dogs."

From recent unhappy experiences in biting off more than he can chew the dog's master knows how to sympathize with Pete.

Leaders in New York politics believe now that it will be Roosevelt against the field, and they profess to think that the President will accept a third term, having started their press bureaus to combat such a movement. It is said that the President will speak out once more on the question of a third term.

Mrs. L. B. Taylor, of 810 East Jefferson St., Louisville, Ky., says:

"Several years ago I contracted a cold which settled in my kidneys. I suffered a great deal from pains across my back and loins and was also much annoyed by the too frequent action of the kidneys' secretions especially at night. I steadily grew worse.

I began to be annoyed by dizziness and a feeling of languor and depression. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and felt relief from the first. I continued the treatment and was soon cured. I gave a statement to this effect in 1900 and am glad to confirm same at this time for the cure has proven to be a permanent one.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Heretofore the State law directing the election of the United States Senators admitted of two construction and in order to make the election of a Senator legal and secure the Legislature has voted twice for Senators.

For instance Senator McCreary was voted for on the first Tuesday after the Assembly convened and again on the second Tuesday. At the last session, however, the ambiguity of the old statute was done away with by the passage of a new act which fixes one particular day for the election of a United States Senator.

Dr. Milton Board, who possesses a wide knowledge of legislative matters, thinks that the new statute as he understood it designated the first Tuesday after the Assembly convened as the time for electing the Senator, and that he believed this feature of the session would be over early in the action.

FEW KNOWHome-Made Treatment to Overcome Rheumatism.

When an eminent authority announced in the Scranton, Pa. Times that he had found a new way to treat that dread American disease, rheumatism, with just common every-day drugs found in any drug store, the physicians were slow indeed to attach much importance to his claims. This was only a few months ago. Today nearly every newspaper in the country, even the metropolitan dailies, is announcing it and the splendid results achieved. It is so simple that any one can prepare it at home at small cost.
It is made up as follows: Get from any good prescription pharmacy Fluid
Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce;
Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. These are all simple ingredients, making an absolutely harmless home remedy at little cost.

Rheumatism as every one knows, is a symptom of deranged kidneys. It is a condition produced by the failure of the kidneys to properly filter or strain from the blood the uric acid and other matter which, if not eradicated, either in the urine or through the skin pores, remains in the blood, decomposes and forms about the joints and muscles, causing the untold suffering and deformities of rheumatism.

Farm News.

We are asked to print the best recipe for pickling and curing pork.

This story has been often told in these columns, and no doubt many of our readers have put away for use the information thus given. The addition to the list of subscribers is constant, and so they are needing to be reached. Of course the main idea in pickling and curing is to prevent decay at the same time that nothing should be used calculated to injure health. The pickle can be made to give the pork flavors that are much desired and so different materials are and should be used in pickling and curing.

The pickle that we give is one of the best. Farmers generally ought to make their own goods of this kind. Otherwise they will have to go to the grocery and pay more than it would cost if put up on the farm. The article from the store has been kept there all summer and has been handled two or three times a week.

"Use a stone jar of fifteen to twenty gallons." This is held to be better than a barrel.

Now put an inch of salt on the bottom of this jar; pack the side pork on edge as closely as possible. Fill in all the spaces between the pork with salt. Put a cover over this and weight it down.

At the present stage it is required that a strong brine be prepared.

Put into this brine an ounce of saltpeter for every jar, and pour it over the whole in quantity sufficient to cover the meat at all times. The effect of saltpeter is to prevent the meat from getting too hard.

In this round of curing meat from the hog we come to the hog meat intended to be smoked. This is cured with salt, to which one-half its weight of sugar has been added, and one ounce of saltpeter mixed through the whole. The curing here is done in ten days to a couple of weeks, and first-class material only used. The sugar greatly improves the flavor of the meat. Salt, sugar and saltpeter are rubbed into the meat every third day of making the change from one vessel into another until the meat is salt enough. When this is the fact smoke the bacon and hams. The article made in this manner is much better than that cured in brine.

All pieces with much bone, as the spare ribs, head of extremities, should be used during the colder weather, or else kept under the brine, with frequent looking at the surface to see if scum is rising. If it is the brine should be removed and boiled to cause its impurities to rise, and then, after these are removed, it should be turned on again, placing the meat first in a layer of fresh salt.

As most of this sort of butchering is done toward the beginning of winter, a good plan as any is to freeze the spare ribs and keep them frozen. In the absence of the proper degree of cold ordinarily the refrigerator has to be employed.

Do well whatever is undertaken. Use first-class materials only.

The genius who found out that cutting up fresh green bone and using it for hen feed would double the laying capacity of the hen, did something worth while for the poultry world. It's about the only use the bones from the meat markets could be put to. If they were not used by the great army of poultry raisers they would be only so much waste material, as they would not be gathered up by the fertilizer factories.

And this one time waste product is the ideal hen food. The very element that the hen requires for egg-making are there, and almost in the right proportions. It seems like a wise design of nature that these necessary element for egg-making should have composed the bones of animals which are necessarily distributed as widely as is the poultry industry. Wherever chickens are raised, bones can be had, usually for nothing, always for a trifling sum.

A PRINCELY DOMAIN.

The New State of Oklahoma and Some of its Features.

The area of the new state of Oklahoma will be 70,430 square miles, greater than that of Missouri and equal to that of Indiana and Ohio combined. It contains 45,000,000 acres of agricultural land and has more than 1,400,000 population, of which 105,000 are Indians and 35,000 negroes. The value of property in the new state is placed at $1,100,000,000, and the mineral deposits discovered thus far are easily worth another $1,000,000,000. The state enters its career with 5,000 miles of railroads and several hundred additional miles are now under construction.

The percentage of illiteracy in the new state is 7; in the United States 10-3-4. There are 96 cities, each with more than 3,000 population, and 44 with over 2,000 population each. The actual population of the two territories is 721,141 for Oklahoma, as against 298,331 in 1900, a gain of 91 per cent, and 692,901 for Indian Territory, a total of 1,414,042 for the entire state. On the basis of this population the new state is entitled to two more members of Congress, and an attempt will be made during the coming session to have Oklahoma's number increased from five to seven.

There are over 1,100 manufacturing establishments of different kinds in the new state, employing 10,000 men. Of the 25,000,000 acres of land in Oklahoma Territory, fully 20,000,000 is taxable, while on the Indian Territory side of the state only about 17,000 acres are taxable. For this reason the main campaign to be made in Congress during the coming winter by the Oklahoma delegation will be to secure the removal of restrictions on Indian lands, permitting all but the Indian homesteads to be sold to whites, and thus placing all the lands on the taxable list.

The productive wealth of Oklahoma soil has increased by leaps and bounds from prairie hay in 1889, to include all the great farm products of both the North and South, the aggregate value of which in the year 1906, for Oklahoma alone, was over $125,000,000. No class of settlers in Oklahoma have prospered to a greater degree than the farmers a majority of whom came here with little or no means beyond that of a willingness to work and endure hardships for the time necessary to subdue the sod and grow a crop. Comfortable, and in some instances, palatial homes have supplanted the dugout and temporary improvements.

A separate school system exists in Oklahoma, but the negroes are given exactly the same privileges as the whites, and just as good buildings are provided for them. In fact, the law makes it compulsory for District Boards to provide a separate school in every district where there are negroes children of school age. The enabling act, as drawn by Congress, extends this right to the state to maintain a separate school system.

Oklahoma is larger in area than Indiana and Ohio combined.

Oklahoma will be the twenty-third State in the union in point of population.

Oklahoma has 5,500 miles of railroads, 700 banks and 50 daily papers. Oklahoma's metropolis, Oklahoma City, has forty miles of asphalt pavements.

Oklahoma's Constitution is the biggest in the Union, being made up of sixty-thousand words.

State-wide prohibition is provided in the Constitution.

The "initiative and referendum" are in the State Constitution, and extend also to municipalities.

Oklahoma has 24,669 full-blooded Indians and 50,670 part Indians. Many of them are highly civilized.

Oklahoma is a "corn state," having raised 150,000,000 bushels last year.

THE DEATH OF SAMSON

Sunday School Lesson for Dec. 1, 1907

Specially Prepared for This Paper

LESSON TEXT.—Judges 16:21-21. Memory Verses 28-30.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"Be strong in the Lord, and the power of His might."—Eph. 6:10.

TIME.—B. C. 1115-1094. During the last part of the period of the Judges, the 40 years of the Philistines oppression of West Israel, 1114-1094, and contemporary with the first 30 years of Samuel.

PLACE.—If we make J. Samuel and Hebrews come from which to measure, Zorah, the birthplace of Samson, will be 14 miles west of Jerusalem; the valley of Sorek, two miles farther west; Timnath, four miles south of Zorah; and Ashdod, 26 miles further west near the sea. Hebrews is 26 miles south of Jerusalem, and Gaza 26 miles directly west. See colored map.

The tribe of Dan bordered on the north of Judah and west of Benjamin, the sea running through Jerusalem east and west.

Comment and Suggestive Thought.

The Samson Stories.—It seems strange, at first sight, that three chapters of the Bible should be given to the story of such a man as Samson—great, strong, jovial, good-natured, ready to fight, equally ready to play rough jokes and utter witty sayings, with an animal nature overshadowing the spiritual. It is still more strange that in the roll-call of heroes of the faith in the eleventh chapter of Hebrews, Samson should be named with Abraham, Gideon, and David, among those "who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions."

Samson and His Characteristics.—

1. The name Samson is derived from the Hebrew word for "sun," and means "sunny" or "sun-hero." He was born at Zorah in the more southern of the two settlements of the tribe of Dan, on the borders of Judah, 14 miles west of Jerusalem. His father's name was Manoah.

2. Even before his birth his mission was announced. He was to be one who should "begin to save Israel out of the hand of the Philistines," and to this end was to be consecrated to God (Judges 13). It is a great thing for any person to be so endowed and so trained as to have a definite mission in this world. Only partially did Samson fulfill his ideal, but the presence of it influenced his whole life.

3. The consecration of Samson was through the Nazirite vow, which required (Num. 6: 2-6) total abstinence from grapes, wine, and all intoxicating liquors; that the hair should go uncut; and that all contamination with dead bodies be avoided. It was usually a temporary vow, but Samson and John the Baptist were perpetual Nazirites. The meaning of the vow was probably "entire consecration to God."

It is to be noted that, according to the record, Samson, with all his other failings, yet kept sacred the conditions of this vow. On the keeping of the vow his strength and prowess depended.

4. The first and most effective of the endowments of Samson for his mission was his great strength, which, in general, he used to deliver his nation from the power of the oppressor, although not always in the wisest way.

5. A second special endowment of Samson was his sense of humor, his impulsive practical joking, puns, and riddles. These were an advantage to him even in his efforts to overcome the Philistine oppressors.

6. "He was a born fighter. He knew his strength and loved to use it. Nothing stirred him like the joy of a battle, unless, indeed, the sweet rewards of victory, its spoils and pleasures. Such men commonly degenerate into mercenary fighters, fighting here and there, on whichever side inclination may be strongest or personal advantage greatest."—Rev. Ira S. Dodd.

But it was not so in the case of Samson.

7. His weakness was very great. His spiritual nature was not highly developed. He was not a leader or organizer of men. He did his work alone, and not by massing the nation against the oppressor. He was infected with the loose morals of his heathen neighbors. These were a hindrance to his mission, and brought him to blindness, slavery, and an untimely death.

8. But in the main he was firmly on the side of God's people and the fulfillment of his mission. He never broke his Nazirite vows. He was a total abstaining man to the end. "To appreciate the faith of Samson it is necessary to understand the temptations and difficulties in face of which he performed his task."

If Samson had cared only for the satisfaction of his course and selfish impulses, the road to that infamous fame would have been wide open. But read his story. You will see that he always fought on one side—the unpopular, the dangerous, the apparently hopeless side.

9. But in the main he was firmly on the side of God's people and the fulfillment of his mission. He never broke his Nazirite vows.

Samson's failure in his work was the result of his moral failure, and wrecked his life.

The officers, with a posse, surrounded the place but found that Perry was accompanied by two women, both of whom on the approach of the officers presented pistols in their faces while one of them yelled: "Run, Jess; we will entertain your enemies." TWO GIRLS.

BUSSEYVILLE.

Last Tuesday evening our school was suddenly thrown into a frenzy by the discovery that the house was on fire, and the angry flames were fast licking up the roof when the discovery was made. All efforts to control the fire proved in vain, for the fire was beyond control when discovered.

The teacher and pupils had barely time to escape before the ceiling was falling, and the only thing that could be done was to stand and gaze upon the sad and solemn scene. The alarmed neighbors arrived too late for assistance, and all that now remains of the once pleasant school house that stood upon the spot is a mass of smoldering ashes. No insurance was carried, and so it is a total loss. The cause of the fire was floating sparks lodging on the roof, kindled to flames by the floating winds, which were very high all that day. School is now taking a vacation until a place can be secured to finish the school, which will take about five weeks.

The last of all that was mortal of Richard Meek, better known as "Uncle Dick," was interred in the old family graveyard last Monday morning, he having died Sunday about noon, after long and severe suffering, having within the past few months lost his eyesight, and was compelled to grope his declining years in total darkness. Funeral rites were conducted by Rev. Yoak.

A. J. Thompson is now down sick.

Pauline Carter is confined to her bed with sickness.

Clifton Thompson, of Princess, is visiting relatives at Forks of Little Linn.

Tom Bussey, who has been doing some carpenter work here, has returned to his home in Ohio. He was accompanied by Carl Bussey, who will visit there for a while.
